ABSTRACT

The present invention provides genes, which expression level is altered in stomach cancer and metastatic focus of the stomach cancer. The genes of the present invention and the proteins encoded by the 5 genes are useful in predicting carcinogenesis of stomach cancer and malignancy of scirrhous stomach cancer. Furthermore, they are expected as the targets for designing drugs to prevent carcinogenesis and metastasis of stomach cancer.